UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY COURT
FOR THE DISTRICT OF OREGON

In the Matter of:

JACK KARROLL DAVIS,

Debtor.

BRENDA HARVEY,

Movant,

vs.

JACK KARROLL DAVIS,

Respondent.

Case No. 16-34317-pcm7

DEBTOR'S RESPONSE AND OBJECTIONS IN OPPOSITION
TO MOVANT'S MOTION FOR RELIEF
FROM THE AUTOMATIC STAY
UNDER 11 U.S.C. § 362

The following Is lodged with the Court pursuant to the provisions of L.R. 220-2(b). The Motion for Relief from the Automatic Stay under U.S.C. § 362, filed herein against Debtor by Movant Brenda Harvey (hereinafter: "Movant"), should be denied for the following reasons:

1. THE REQUESTED ORDER WOULD REPRESENT AN ABUSE OF THE COURT'S DISCRETION, BECAUSE THE MOTION IS UNTIMELY:

Rule 60(b)(6) FRCP reads in pertinent part as follows:

"On motion and upon such terms as are just, the court may relieve a party or a party's

1 legal representative from a final judgment, order, or proceeding for ... any ... reason
2 justifying relief from the operation of the judgment."

3 The Motion is untimely offered, and is therefore in bad faith. The controlling decision on this
4 issue was rendered in In re Can-Alta Properties, Ltd., 87 B.R. 89, 9th Cir. BAP, Ariz., (1998), in which
5 the primary thrust of the decision was that the Debtor was not given, indeed could not have been given,
6 any opportunity to cure defects in the petition or the plan, consistent with the Court's concerns.

7 In the case herein, as was the case in Can-Alta, Debtor has not even submitted his schedules and 8 financial information to the Court, therefore any request for relief from stay is untimely and cannot be 9 granted, because to do so, without an opportunity for the Trustee to evaluate and take control of the 10 assets of the bankruptcy estate. Additionally, as is more fully set forth in the accompanying declaration
11 of Debtor Jack Karroll Davis, there is at issue and subject to the Trustee's authority, a sum of money on 12 deposit in the amount of $60,000, which sum is in danger of being irrevocably lost, if relief from stay is 13 granted.

14 Additionally, as is more fully set forth Debtor's Declaration, Debtor's ultimate goal of converting
15 the instant case into a Chapter 13, emphasizes even more the need for the automatic stay to remain in 16 place, in that no hearing on a proposed Plan has yet been held, no evidence regarding confirmability or 17 feasibility of said Plan has been presented to the court, and finally and most importantly, the Debtor has 18 had no opportunity to amend a Plan consistent with any concerns the Court, the Trustee or other 19 creditors might express.

20 The lifting of the Automatic Stay is one of the most serious and consequential actions that a 21 bankruptcy court can take. When coupled with the Debtor's statutory and Constitutional right to be 22 secure in his property and possessions to the extent exempted by law, and the need for the Court to
23 consider that 11 U.S.C. § 362(a) provides that the Automatic Stay is intended to give the debtor
24 breathing room by stopping all collection efforts, all harassment, and all foreclosure actions, it is not 25 appropriate for the court to consider lifting the automatic stay for purely procedural or technical reasons.
26

1 In this case however, Debtor's right to the "breathing room" to which he is otherwise entitled, has
2 been seriously curtailed and infringed upon by the Movant's bad faith filing of the motion for relief from
3 stay, which was filed with the Court, the very same day as the initial filing of the Petition. It should not
4 be an allowable use of the Bankruptcy Court for Movant to employ the shield of a motion filing to harass
5 Debtor. As was set forth in Peerless Ins. Co. v. Rivera, 208 B.R. 313, D.R.I. (1997):

6 "Section 362(d)(1) permits a 'party in interest'
7 to obtain relief from the Bankruptcy Code's
8 automatic stay provision 'for cause.' 11 U.S.C.
9 § 362(d)(1). The statute does not define 'cause';
10 but, generally speaking, 'cause' is said to exist
11 when the harm that would result from a continuation
12 of the stay would outweigh any harm that might be 13 suffered by the debtor or the debtor's estate if the 14 stay is lifted. In re Turner, 161 B.R. 1, 3 (Bankr.D.Me.1993).

15 "Determining whether 'cause' exists requires a fact
16 intensive inquiry that must be made on a case by case
17 basis. In re Tucson Estates, Inc., 912 F.2d 1162, 1166
18 (9th Cir.1990).” (emphasis added)

19 The Courts have identified a number of factors to be considered in making the determination as 20 to whether relief from stay should be granted or not. See In re Unanue-Casal, 159 B.R. 90, 95-96
21 (D.P.R.1993), aff'd, 23 F.3d 395 (1st Cir.1994) (listing twelve factors). As was the case in Peerless, four 22 factors that are especially applicable in this case for the Court to consider in making its determination 23 are:

- 24 1. the harm to the party seeking relief from the stay (i.e., Movant) if the stay is not lifted;
- 25 2. the harm to the debtor if the stay is lifted;
- 26 3. the interests of creditors; and
- 27 4. the effect on the fair and efficient administration of justice.

28 I. The harm to Movant.

29 In this matter, since the value of the subject property is clearly sufficient to protect Movant's
30 interest, the only "harm" suffered by Movant as a result of the stay will have been a delay in its ability to

1 obtain resolution of the state court claims made by Debtor, a harm that can be properly characterized as 2 relatively slight. In re Annie's, Inc., 201 B.R. 29 (Bankr.D.R.I.1996).

3 In making its Motion herein, the Movant has apparently overlooked the fact that the stay also 4 protects and preserves the state court case, the non-exempt proceeds from which, if Debtor prevails,
5 would provide a substantial source of resources, potentially available to Debtor's other creditors herein.
6 Additionally, Movant has not disclosed to this court that Movant did receive the note to these properties
7 In Probate as a result of passing of the originators of the note and said transfer as noted on the transfer d
8 Was for Zero $0.00 dollars. Movant has no investment in the properties in the first place.

9 II. The harm to Debtor Jack Karroll Davis.

10 By contrast, the harm caused to Debtor by the lifting of the Automatic Stay is immeasurable:
11 Debtor has owned the subject property for almost a decade; well prior to the time that Movant acquired
12 her interest in the property. Movant's requested relief, if granted by the Court, would effectively destroy
13 Debtor's substantial and meaningful investment in the Premises, harming both Debtor, his family
14 As this is the major part of the income for Debtor and his family and the 15 community at large. Additionally, it is well established that the automatic stay should be lifted, in 16 regards real property, only as a last resort. As the Ninth Circuit admonished in In re Shamblin, 890 F.2d
17 123, C.A. 9, Cal. (1989): "Any equitable exception to the automatic stay should be narrow and applied 18 only in extreme circumstances." (emphasis added)

19 III. The interests of Creditors.

20 Movant seeks to improperly benefit, to the expense and detriment of other creditors affected by 21 the bankruptcy filing. As set forth in the attached Declaration, Debtor has placed the sum of $60,000
22 into a state court case superceded bond on the Premises. Since the Movant now has a money award
23 which offsets that bond, the $60,000 is now available for attachment and distribution by the Trustee.
24 Additionally, the non-exempt proceeds from the state court bond could provide sufficient funds to 25 substantially satisfy all creditors' claims, a possibility which does not otherwise exist.

26 IV. The effect on the fair and efficient administration of justice.

27 The Movant's requested relief, if granted, will have the inevitable result of mooted and 28 destroying much of Debtor's state court case. The Debtor also requests that the Court take judicial notice
29 of the temporary restraining order against foreclosure which was issued and sustained by the Multnomah 30

Page -4- Debtor's Response and Objections in Opposition to Motion for Relief From Stay

1 County Circuit Court, and suggests to this Honorable Court that the clear inference of such an
2 occurrence is an apparent conclusion, the state court, that Debtor has a likelihood of prevailing on the 3 merits of his case at appeal.

4 Unfortunately, the inevitable result of the Court's granting relief from stay will be that Movant
5 and her co-defendant in the state court case will be rewarded for their illegal and improper behavior;
6 debtor's other creditors will be disadvantaged, and deprived of potential compensation.

7 The result of the Court granting relief from stay therefore, can under no stretch of the imagination
8 be viewed as a "fair and efficient administration of justice"; rather it serves only to block and frustrate 9 the same.

10 2. MOVANT'S CLAIM IS FAULTY:

11 The Movant has the initial burden to establish that cause exists, while the debtor bears
12 the ultimate burden on all other issues other than equity in its property. 11 USC § 362(g); In re
13 Poissant, 405 B.R. 267 (Bankr. N. D. Ohio May 20, 2009). If the movant cannot make this initial 14 showing, relief from stay should be denied without requiring the debtor to make any showing that it is 15 entitled to continued protection of the automatic stay. Sonnax Indus., Inc. v. Tri Component Production
16 Corp. (In re Sonnox Indus., Inc.), 907 F. 2d 1280, 1285 (2nd Civ. 1990).

17 "Cause" is not defined in the Bankruptcy Code but includes the lack of adequate protection.
18 Therefore, under § 362 (d)(1), the "court must determine whether discretionary relief is appropriate on a 19 case by case basis". In re Laguna Associates, L.P., 30 F. 3d 734, 737 (6th Civ. 1994). In determining 20 whether cause exists, the bankruptcy court should base its decision on the hardships imposed on the 21 parties with an eye toward the overall goals of the Bankruptcy Code. In re C&S Grain Co., 47 F. 3d 233,
22 238 (7th Civ. 1995).

23 In the matter at hand, the Movant has offered no rationale as to why the automatic stay should be 24 lifted, or identified any possible harm that will come to Movant as a result of the imposition of the 25 automatic stay. Further, Movant has attached no exhibits or other documentation supporting her claim
26

1 for possession, in direct contravention of the requirements of paragraph 7 of the Motion for Relief, and
2 therefore has failed to provide sufficient cause for this Court to even consider the drastic step of granting 3 relief from the automatic stay.

4 For the reasons as outlined and explained hereinabove, and in the interests of preserving the 5 Debtor's right to enjoy protection under the Automatic Stay, absent either the most extreme
6 circumstances or demonstrated danger to a creditor's legitimate security interests, neither of which are 7 present in this case, the Motion for Relief From the Automatic Stay should be denied.

8 Wherefore, the Debtor requests that this Court deny, in its entirety, the Motion for Relief From 9 Automatic Stay.

10 Dated, this 28th day of November, 2016.

UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY COURT
FOR THE DISTRICT OF OREGON

In the Matter of:

JACK KARROLL DAVIS,

Debtor.

BRENDA HARVEY,

Movant,

vs.

JACK KARROLL DAVIS,

Respondent.

Case No. 16-34317-pcm7

DECLARATION OF DEBTOR
JACK KARROLL DAVIS

COMES NOW, Jack Karroll Davis, and hereby declares and says:

1. I am the debtor in the above-entitled bankruptcy action, acting pro se herein.

2. This Affidavit is made in support of my Debtor's Response and Objections to Movant's Motion for Order Granting Relief From the Automatic Stay Under U.S.C. 11 § 356.

3. I further believe that I will suffer immediate, permanent and irreparable harm as a result of the immediate enforcement of the Court's Order Granting Relief From Stay, before my Schedules and Financial Affairs documents are even due to be filed with the Court.

4. I have filed for, and received, an Order, extending my due date for the missing schedules and other documents in my Bankruptcy case, until December 7, 2016; however Movant's Motion is scheduled to be heard on December 6, 2016. Therefore, Movant cannot represent to the court that she

1 will suffer any harm as a result of the imposition of the automatic stay, because she cannot - in good
2 faith - identify any failure on the part of my bankruptcy to adequately deal with her claims against me.

3 Additionally, Movant has not disclosed to this court that Movant did receive the note to these properties
5 In Probate as a result of passing of the originators of the note and said transfer as noted on the transfer d
7 Was for Zero $0.00 dollars. Movant has no investment in the properties in the first place.

9 5. There is also the matter of a $60,000 supercedeas undertaking that I was required to file in 10 Multnomah County Case No. 130011857E, as a “far use and benefit” amount, for continued possession
11 of the premises, during the pendency of the appeal. Movant’s money award in Multnomah County Case
12 No. 15CV01962 of $195,000 - which case is currently under appeal - represents that same “fair use and 13 benefit” period, so to permit Movant to have both the $60,000 bond, while at the same time pursuing the 14 $195,000 money award, would - in essence - grant Movant what amounts to a “double dipping” benefit,
15 at the direct expense of the other creditors.

16 6. Further, as a pro se Debtor, I elected to file my case as a Chapter 7, in consideration of the 17 relative difficulty in pursuing a pro se Chapter 13; however it is my intention to obtain legal counsel for 18 my bankruptcy, with the intention of converting it to a Chapter 13, and paying Movant for the debt
19 owed on Debtors’ buildings.

20 7. I further believe that my state court claims against Movant are well founded in law, and that I
21 have a good likelihood of prevailing on the merits on appeal, provided my case is still viable at that time,
22 and has not been mooted by this Court’s granting relief from the automatic stay.

23 8. I believe that, should the Court order relief from stay, and the immediate enforcement of the 24 same, that the Movant will be able to obtain a substantial and improper advantage, to the detriment of 25 other creditors in the state court case. The end result of this improper advantage may be that sums,
26 which would otherwise be available for distribution by the Trustee, will instead not be available.
